HAVE NO PLACE NAZIS SCHOOL

Connecticut Colonial Community Resent Building of Camp in the Neighborhood.
By Paul Gallico
I. N. S. Staff Correspondent
SOUTHBRIDGE, Conn., Dec. 7 (INS)—The long arm of Adolf Hitler has reached into some queer places, but none stranger than this dreary, sequestered colonial village here, close to the Housatonic.

It is here on George's Hill by Shelton, nearby that the German-American band is attempting to open and establish Camp German. Von Steuben where young German-Americans can learn how to become good Nazis, shout "Heil to the Fuhrer," and in the words of its own literature, "regenerate the United States on the order of the Fuhrer."

It is likewise here that the land on the end of the long arm of Adolf has been thrust into a hostile state.

The Americans who live here have been doing so since 1745. Southbridge was first laid out Sunday because, invoking a blue law, the considerable arrested two members of the band, Richard Goodwin of Mr. Vernon, N. Y., and Gustave Korn of New Rochelle, N. Y., on warrants charging them with working in a seditious and seditious way in clearing a part of the hillside wilderness of the camp property.

Most of the solid citizens of the town deplore this move as petty persecution and injurious to the main cause. These solid citizens do not want Nazism in Southbridge in any form.

Questions were voiced by the Jennie Hinman, dean, descendant of Col. Benjamin Hinman, revolutionary soldier. She is a daughter of the American Revolution and a Daughter of the Cincinnati.

Kansas Red Wheat Case

First of Kansas Grain Club members, receiving religious freedom, departed from color, to find their homes in Kansas. A patriarchal and agricultural world, knowing nothing of the conditions which they must face in the new country, they took along everything they thought they might need, including household goods, implements, and their families. And they seemed unimportant, but later was to prove most important.

Noting what they stand for, in their community.
The farmers don't want them because the presence of the camp will lower the value of their land. The shopkeepers don't want them because of the possibility of boycotts or trouble. And the habit to keep them out is just beginning.
